The President Goes to New York City to Live.

HE WILL ACT AS COUNSEL FOR A WELL KNOWN LAW FIRM.

Many of Mrs. Cleveland's Lady Friends Shed Tears on Bidding Her Good-Bye. The Bill Amending the Interstate Commerce Law Becomes a Law—How the Halfords Went to the Ball—Notes.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Ex-President Cleveland, Mrs. Cleveland, Mrs. Folsom and Col. Lamont and his family left for New York by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at 11 o'clock a. m. There was a generous crowd at the depot to see them off. Mr. Cleveland's party occupied a special car, which was literally covered with choice floral offerings sent by friends. Among those who called to bid the party farewell were the members of the late cabinet and their families and also a number of congressmen and other public officials.

Mr. Cleveland will probably begin his work this week as a member of the New York law firm of Bangs, Setson, Tracy & MacVeagh. He will not appear in the courts, it is said, but will act as counsel for the firm. He has taken family apartments at the Victoria hotel.

A great many personal friends of Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland called at Secretary Fairchild's house Tuesday afternoon to bid the ex-president and his wife good-bye. Many tender expressions of regret at their departure from the city, and good wishes for success and future happiness were uttered; and many of Mrs. Cleveland's lady friends could hardly repress tears as they shook hands and affectionately embraced her and bade her good-bye.

The Interstate Commerce Law.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The bill amending the interstate commerce act as it finally became a law, contains several important revisions, which are expected to aid the commissioners very materially in carrying out the purposes of the original act and enforcing its provisions. One change made is the requiring of three days' public notice of any proposed reduction in the published rates of a railroad. Special provision is made to prevent and punish "underbidding" under severe penalties. The penalty section of the present act is strengthened by adding the penalty of imprisonment to the fine now provided when the offense is an unlawful discrimination in rates or charges. The provisions of the present act in regard to the publication of rates are made to apply to joint rates. A change is made in the court provisions, which is intended to facilitate the recovery of damages for overcharges by railroads, and the powers of the commissioners are increased in several respects.

The Halfords' Rough Experience.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Elijah Halford says the inaugural ball was his first ball and will be his last. The carriage sent for him and his family was driven by a colored man, imported from Virginia for the occasion. During the confusion the Halford carriage became separated from the rest of the presidential party. After they had been driving around the city half an hour Elijah stuck his head out of the door and inquired where they were going. The driver told him he could not find the pension office. Halford is as much a stranger in the city as the coachman. Getting out of the carriage, he went into a drug store and inquired his way. He discovered that he was in Georgetown. After giving the driver an emphatic blessing he told him the course to take.

On the way to the pension office the carriage got jammed among a lot of others, and in the confusion the pole of another carriage was driven through the windows of that in which the Halfords sat. Halford had to get out again, and sought a policeman to assist him in making his escape. He informed the policeman who he was. The policeman intimated that Halford was an imposter. Halford finally succeeded in getting his much damaged carriage into line, and arrived at the pension office an hour and a half after the party he started with.

Twelve Thousand Ball Tickets Sold.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Twelve thousand ball tickets were sold, making the receipts from that source $60,000. Col. Britton, chairman of the inaugural committee of arrangements, says that the sale of tickets continued after the point had been reached when the expenses had been covered so that the public could not be imposed upon by speculators. The sale of tickets was continued up to 12 o'clock, when the applications for admission had ceased. In reference to alleged sale of tickets at fancy prices by outsiders, Mr. Britton says that if the public was imposed upon in this way, it was not the fault of the committee, as at no time was the sale of tickets stopped.

Good Word for His Secretary.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Secretary Whitney took official leave of the officers and employees of the navy department Tuesday afternoon and at the same time took occasion to say a few pleasant words in regard to his successor. He said: "I am personally acquainted with Judge Tracy, and consequently can truthfully congratulate you upon his selection. He is a man of probity and ability and will make an excellent secretary of the navy. It is a good appointment."

The Cabinet at Work.

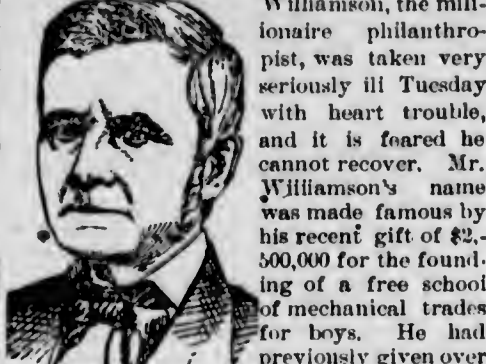

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The president signed the commissions of all of the members of his cabinet during the morning, and they were formally inducted into office during the day. Secretary Tracy was the first to qualify. He took the oath of office in the navy department about 1:45 o'clock in the presence of ex-Secretary Whitney and the principal officers of the department. The senate simply met, and on motion of Mr. Allison, adjourned.

Unanimously Approved.

MADISON, Wis., March 7.—When the announcement of President Harrison's cabinet was made in the legislature Tuesday in each house, a resolution unanimously prevailed expressing approval at the selection of ex-Governor Rusk.

ISAIAH V. WILLIAMSON,
The Millionaire Philanthropist, Seriously Ill in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—Mr. Isaiah V. Williamson, the millionaire philanthropist, was taken very seriously ill Tuesday with heart trouble, and it is feared he cannot recover. Mr. Williamson's name was made famous by his recent gift of $2,500,000 for the founding of a free school of mechanical trades for boys. He had previously given over $1,000,000 to various charitable and educational institutions.

TO THE WESTWARD.

The Negro Exodus from North Carolina Still Continues.

RALEIGH, N. C., March 7.—We have what looks like an extensive exodus of colored people. Last night addresses by two colored preachers and a lawyer were made, in which the negroes were urged to go to Kansas and Arkansas, but not to Louisiana and Mississippi. The advice, listened to attentively by 2,000 persons, all colored, made a great impression, particularly on the women.

It was stated by the speakers that meetings like this would be held all over the state and the announcements have been made from the pulpits of many churches and will be made from all. It was further stated that 40,000 negroes are wanted in Kansas and that negroes would also be made welcome in Maine, Vermont and Massachusetts. The railway fare from here to Kansas has been put down to $11. That state appears to be the most popular and many labor agents from Kansas are at work in this state.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS.

Great Damage Done in Ecuador, South America.

LIMA, Peru, March 7.—A report received here from Guayaquil, Ecuador, states that slight shocks of earthquake have been felt there since 11 p. m. March 2. The report is not confirmed. The same report states that it is feared great damage has been done in the province of Manavi. All telegraphic communication in that direction is interrupted.

At St. Elena, Ecuador, an earthquake shock was felt early in the evening of March 3.

A Rapist's Fate.

TEXARKANA, Ark., March 7.—Monday night J. E. Robinson, deputy postmaster of Dalby Springs, was arrested on a charge of criminal assault upon the eight-year-old daughter of Thomas Tierney, a hotel keeper. Robinson was taken to the Tierney house for identification, where, in spite of the officers, Tierney came near killing him with a stick of wood. The officers finally rescued him, and started for the jail, but before reaching it were met by a body of unknown men who took the prisoner and hurried him out of town. News was received here Tuesday night that Robinson's body was found suspended from a tree and riddled with bullets.

Indiana Legislature.

In the senate the following bills were passed: Making the sale of tobacco to any person under sixteen years of age unlawful; making eight hours a day's work upon all public works; requiring that judicial executions shall be performed at the state prisons, except in cases where persons are not under sentence of death; empowering county commissioners to pay $35 toward the burial expenses of indigent ex-Union soldiers; creating a superior court in Elkhart county; making it unlawful to pipe natural gas out of the state.

No bills of importance passed the house.

Jack the Choker.

DENVER, Col., March 7.—A reign of terror exists among the ladies and young girls of this city on account of the doings of a mysterious individual known as Jack the Choker. He is described as a man of about forty years of age. He springs upon unprotected females in lonely places, and throws a rope around their necks. He then twists the rope so that they cannot scream. After insensibility ensues the victim is laid upon the ground, and the mysterious "choker" disappears. A lynching party has been organized and he will be summarily dealt with if caught.

A Texas Street Murder.

TEMPLE, Tex., March 7.—An awful tragedy was enacted on the streets here Tuesday. Alfred and Herbert Rother engaged in a gun fight with Tom and Hugh Mattock. The latter was killed outright and Tom Mattock is dying. Alfred Rother was shot in the arm. The trouble grew out of a law suit in which Tom Mattock's testimony offended Alfred Rother. The parties met Tuesday, and Rother demanded an apology, which being refused led to a quarrel and the shooting. The Mattocks are members of a prominent family of Belton.

An Historical Character Dead.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, March 7.—Francis V. De Grissell died at Storm Lake on Sunday and was buried at Centralia, in this county, Tuesday. De Grissell was the private secretary to Gen. Motellot, who was with Napoleon I at St. Helena. He was with Napoleon in seventeen campaigns and was banished by Napoleon III in 1853. He spent six months in England and came from there to Dubuque.

A Broken Axle.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., March 7.—An axle broke under the Scranton express train on the Lehigh & Susquehanna railroad, three miles from here, Tuesday evening, derailing three coaches. David Baker, trackman, was killed, and John Dielert, another employe, was probably fatally injured. The passengers escaped with a general shaking up.

A Steam Heating Syndicate.

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—A syndicate under the name of "The Mutual Steam Heating company," headed by Governor Beaver, Sidney Dillon, William Rockefeller and other prominent men, will, as soon as the frost is out of the ground, begin laying pipes to heat by steam 10,000 houses in the northeastern section of this city.

ELECTRICITY.

How It is Put to New and Surprising Uses in Warfare.

ALL GREAT WAR SHIPS LIGHTED THROUGHOUT BY IT.

Besides This the Busy Brains of the Naval Officers Have Invented Many Ways in Which to Utilize This Mysterious Fluid. Lieutenant Commander Bradford's Report.

NEW YORK, March 7.—"The countless devices by which electricity is made applicable aboard the new war vessels are simply marvelous," remarked a naval officer recently. "What with furnishing the light to the vessels, electricity has also been made to serve as the motive power for no end of small hoisting machines about the decks and below, and now it is to be used aboard the Chicago for training some of the heavy main battery guns. It may surprise some persons to know, too, that nearly all these applications of electricity aboard ship have had their origin from the brains of naval officers."

The first general application of incandescent electric lighting to the illumination of steam vessels occurred only about six years ago, but at the present time no tramp steamer is complete without it. It was thought for some that men-of-war could not be so lighted, as the discharge of heavy guns would destroy the incandescent filaments.

The Trenton was the first American man-of-war, and in fact the first war vessel afloat, that was lighted by electric light. Her lights were installed in 1883, and at the time her system of lighting created considerable comment from foreign naval officials. The success of the Trenton's experiment practically settled the question in naval circles. Since the Trenton was given her electric apparatus the Omaha, New Hampshire, Dolphin, Atlanta, Boston and Chicago have been furnished with electric lighting apparatuses, and not one of the new vessels just coming will be lighted in any other way but by electricity.

In his report on the electric lighting of naval vessels, Lieut. Com. R. B. Bradford, U. S. N., describes the apparatus on the different vessels as follows: "The Trenton has a single Edison incandescent plant XXX, and although very heavy and cumbersome compared with plants now manufactured, it has always been thoroughly efficient. The dynamo is shunt wound, of 100 volts and 120 amperes, and rated as a 150 sixteen-candle light machine. The engine is a nine and one-half inch by twelve inch horizontal and belted XXXX. There are now 286 lamps on board the Trenton."

"Perhaps no prettier sight can be imagined than when glancing at the long gun decks some night to see the blue jackets gathered about the little glass balls hanging pendant between the guns busily engaged in sewing, patching or making fancy work."

"The Omaha has a single Sawyer-Man dynamo on board, which is rated as 100 sixteen-candle light machine. It is driven by an Armstrong & Sims horizontal belted engine. There are about one hundred and sixty Sawyer-Man lamps installed."

"The New Hampshire is lighted by the Edison system. A single shunt wound dynamo of one hundred volts and 240 amperes rates as a 300 sixteen-candle light machine, XXXX, is driven by a nine and one-half inch by twelve inch horizontal belted engine."

"The Dolphin has on board an Edison shunt wound dynamo of about one hundred volts and eighty amperes, which is rated as a one hundred sixteen-candle light. It is driven by a six and one-half inch by eight inch horizontal belted engine. The ship is installed with one hundred lamps."

"The Atlanta has a shunt wound Webster dynamo of 110 volts, which is rated at 150 sixteen-candle light machine. It is driven by a nine and one-half inch by twelve inch horizontal belted engine. There are 286 lamps of the western pattern installed."

"The Boston has a compound wound Brush dynamo of ninety-two volts and ninety-eight amperes, which is rated at 150 sixteen-candle light machine. It is driven by a ten inch by twelve inch straight line horizontal belted engine. There are 286 lamps of the Swan pattern installed."

The contract for the electric apparatus for the Chicago was made with the Edison people. The contract calls for over four hundred incandescent lamps and a duplicate plant. Each dynamo was specified to be of one hundred volts and 160 amperes compound wound, and rated a 200 sixteen-candle light machine. The driving power for each machine comes from a twelve and one-half inch by ten inch horizontal belted engine. The entire plant occupies a space of about twenty feet by six feet, and weighs 16,400 pounds. The Chicago is the first war vessel to be fitted with duplicate plants and it is expected that electric lights can be depended upon at all times except in action, when the plant is liable to destruction on account of its exposed position.

Besides the advantage derived from the lighting process to the ship, the value of the electric search light can not be too highly estimated. By means of these search lights the presence of a small boat can be detected at a distance of a mile from the war ship on the darkest night. Protected by the keen eyes of these powerful electric flashes, a cruiser can anchor in the vicinity of a hostile shore and detect on almost the instant the coming of a torpedo boat within the radius of its search flash. Then, by means of machine and rapid fire guns, the cruiser can defend herself against the smallest of foes.

On some of the vessels electricity is now used to fire the guns, which may be done by the commanding officer on the bridge or from the fighting tower. This may be decidedly advantageous when it is desired to give broadsides at a certain moment, as when engaged in the bombardment of a city or fortress. By means of electricity, whole broadsides may be fired from the crouching tower by the mere pressing of a button.

Cleveland and His Administration.

Many Republicans, especially of the Halstead stripe, hated Cleveland and lost no opportunity to abuse, belittle and revile him, but notwithstanding all this, the fact stands out boldly that he gave the country a thoroughly honest administration. The Washington correspondent of the Courier-Journal says of the administration: "Jobbery was unknown to it. Scandal never soiled it. Corruption shunned it."

Harper's Weekly says: "No Democrat for a half century has done so much to redeem the Democratic name and fortune as Mr. Cleveland, and he retires with the cordial respect of a vast body of his countrymen for his patriotic purpose, his integrity, and his courage."

Such praise as this is indeed gratifying to the distinguished ex-President's admirers, the more so because they know it is merited praise. It has been long since the people had such an honest and courageous President as Cleveland, one who guarded their interests so zealously, and who had their welfare and prosperity so much at heart. The Brooklyn Eagle asserts that "the American people are likely soon to realize they made a mistake in not re-electing him, for they will have to accomplish under awkward auspices the reforms which he was admirably fitted to complete."

The Chicago Times adds: "Fairness yields praise to Cleveland as one who labored devotedly and in the main successfully, and during whose administration the Republic not only suffered no detriment, but made substantial progress."

Columns could be copied of what has been said in praise of our late President, but it is not necessary. His record is before the people and they know that it is a clean one, an honest one, one that is marked with bravery and courage on the questions of the hour, one that no Democrat will ever feel ashamed of, one that he himself can always refer to with a consciousness of him who has faithfully, zealously and ably discharged all trusts reposed in him by the people.

As to his future, politically speaking, here is a prediction the Kansas City Times makes. It says: "As certain as he lives, President Cleveland will yet be a power in the land in all matters of tariff reform. Even now the masses are gravitating toward him as their natural leader. They will listen eagerly to his counsels and take his advice upon all occasions, because he is frank, sincere, and very much in earnest."

DEMOCRATS are workers. The Fiftieth Congress broke all the records. In the House 12,659 bills were introduced, and in the Senate 3,998. Of these 1,791 became laws.

DR. WILLIAM BOWMAN, of Tollesboro, wants to be Minister to Peru, under President Harrison, and the Washington correspondent of the Louisville Times thinks the Doctor stands a good show for the place.

CLEVELAND vetoed 278 bills, or 157 more than all his predecessors from Washington to Arthur inclusive. This fact shows how closely he kept his eyes on Congress and how well he guarded the interests of the people.

WEST VIRGINIA seems to be getting along very well, considering the fact that "Messrs. Goff, Republican, Wilson, Holdover, and Carr, Nondescript, are each claiming to be Governor." The claims of all three may be declared n. g. by the courts, and the office given to Fleming, Democrat.

HARRISON'S inauguration has been closely followed by the failure of the Reading Iron Works, one of the largest establishments of the kind in America. Let us trust that this will not prove an index to the business history of the country during his administration. "A bad beginning makes a good ending."

The richest member of Cleveland's Cabinet was Secretary Whitney, his wealth being estimated at $2,000,000. In Harrison's Cabinet there's Wanamaker worth and Blaine worth $1,000,000, while Vice President Morton is worth $10,000,000. It looks like the Government has been turned over to the millionaires.

ALWAYS "go away from home to learn the news." The Portsmouth Blade says: "Maysville has a 'boom' committee, and among other things they are trying to secure the location of a shoe factory. The sum of $13,000 has been raised for establishing a tobacco factory."

We regret that such is not the case. Maysville ought to have a boom committee and we ought to be trying to secure the location of a shoe factory. And a $43,000 tobacco factory here would have a tendency to wake up the town.

In speaking of the inaugural ball the Washington correspondent of the Louisville Post says: "It was a failure in everything except numbers. The crowd was composed of many coarse elements, with a sprinkling of colored brethren."

"Not one of the Cleverlands was there, and the Harrisons and Mortons retired as soon as they could do so."

The "inaugural ball" is a nonsensical piece of business connected with a change of administration. If people will dance, they can find more suitable occasions and places for such pleasure and amusement.

It is the intention to bring the case before the next grand jury, and prosecute the accused on a more serious charge—that of house-breaking.

A RUFFIAN'S SHOT.

A Young Man From Mt. Carmel Fatally Wounded near Winchester, Ohio.

Jacob Crissman, whose parents live at Mt. Carmel, or near there, was shot and it is thought fatally wounded one night this week at Crinn Chapel school house, three miles west of Winchester, O.

A school exhibition was in progress, when a drunken party named Hugh Nevin entered the room. Going up to Crissman he threw his arms around his neck. Crissman pushed him away, when Nevin swore what he would do. As Crissman was about to run out the door Nevin caught him about the neck with his left arm, and placing a 32-caliber Smith & Wesson against his breast fired, the ball taking effect just below the left nipple.

Nevin then ran on the stage flourishing his revolver and frightening the ladies in the audience until there was a panic. Crissman, after being shot, walked about one hundred yards from the school house to a farmer's residence, where he was still living at last accounts.

Nevin has figured in several shooting scrapes, and has been a terror to the community.

A special says Crissman can not recover. Nevin has been arrested and taken to jail at Georgetown.

TRANSFERS of Maysville and Mason County real estate amounting to over $115,000 have been lodged for record in the County Clerk's office the past week. Mason County land is in demand, and at big figures.

THE Lexington Transcript says: "Dr. Jas. Shackelford, of Maysville, who with his family, has been spending the winter at Mrs. Maggie Clark's, on East Short street, leaves this week for Hot Springs, Ark., for his health."

WALLACE BROS., late of the firm of Purnell, Wallace & Co., will open a cigar factory in the Fitzgerald building on north side of Third street, east of Limestone, early next week. A share of the public patronage is solicited for the new firm. dtf

A RECENT decision of the Chancery Court at Covington gives the Beall heirs about 50,000 acres of land in Eastern Kentucky. Part of it is in Bath County, and embraces many farms that have been in possession of the present occupants almost a life time. There is considerable stir over the matter.

THE Musical Society met at Hayswood last evening, and an interesting programme was rendered. An important change was made in the rules. Heretofore, the membership has been limited to such as took an active interest in the study of music. Hereafter, all who desire to enjoin the society will be admitted as honorary members on the payment of the annual fees. This will entitle such to tickets to all concerts and entertainments by the society.

The Railroads.

Paris has issued $8,000 in bonds to the Kentucky Midland.

The Iron Duke and Ironsides, towboats, left Pittsburg this week with 8,000 tons of steel rails for Baton Rouge.

The tunnel at Cumberland Gap is open 1,150 feet on the Tennessee side and 1,050 on the Kentucky side, with 1,550 feet yet to open. The contractors expect to have the work completed long before the specified time.

J. T. Harahan, recently appointed by President Ingalls to be General Manager of the Chesapeake and Ohio, will not have his office at Richmond, Va., where the General Manager's headquarters have heretofore been located, but will move them to Cincinnati at once. One of the conditions on which he went with President Ingalls' road was that such a change should be made.

Attention, U. R. K. of P.

All members of U. R. K. of P., are requested to meet at Castle Hall to-night at 7:30. Business of great importance to transact. Jas. K. LLOYD, Captain.

Ninety Days.

F. T. Walton, of Philadelphia, has sold to George H. Clay, of Fayette County, the imported thoroughbred stallion, Hopeful, by Uncas, for $5,000.

At Louisville the corn receipts broke the record the past month. The number of bushels was a million and a quarter, of which $50,000 have been reshipped. The January receipts were the next largest ever known.

Religious Miscellany.

The United Brethren Year Book for 1898 reports 4,451 societies and 204,517 members.

In a single year Foreign Mission offerings have increased from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000.

Over 44,000,000 copies of Moody and Sankey's Gospel Hymns have been sold in America and England.

The Methodist Year Book reports 2,154,237 communicants as against 2,093,935 last year; church property, $97,546,515, a gain of $4,825,000.

Legal Questions.

The Winchester Democrat says: "Judge Scott had before him at his last term of court here three questions that have never been before the Court of Appeals of Kentucky. The first was whether an executor can in any case be allowed more than the five per cent. prescribed by the statute. Judge Scott decided that the statute is restrictive, but that the courts can allow five per cent. on the total amount of personality.

"The second question was, have railroad companies or contractors the right to use the surplus materials, such as stone, coal, etc., excavated by them in making cuts or tunnels, for purposes not connected with the construction of the railroad? The decision was that such surplus materials may be used by them for any purpose when it was necessary for the materials to be removed.

"The third question was whether a married woman, who has been authorized by a decree of court to trade as a feme sole and dispose of her property by will, can deprive her husband of his curtesy right. Judge Scott decided that the will depriving the husband of his curtesy right is valid if made with his consent, but the question as to whether such consent is a fraud on his creditors was not determined. All of these decisions will probably be appealed from.

PREMIER TISZA

Bears Up Bravely Under the Storm of Indignation

WHICH HIS ARMY BILL HAS CAUSED IN HUNGARY.

His Political Antagonists Do Not Hesitate to Misrepresent the Situation—King Milan of Serbia Abdicates the Throne in Favor of His Son—Another Battle in Africa—Notes.

LONDON, March 7.—The Hungarian premier has borne up bravely under the storm of indignation and misrepresentation which has been raised by his army bill. His political antagonists have not had much trouble in persuading the hot-headed Hungarian youth that Herr Tisza's measure is but the beginning of a series of edicts intended to Germanize the Magyars and destroy their individuality of character and language.

They have no special liking for Russia and the Russians, but it may be safely said that they detest them less than they do Germany and everything German. The mere hint of absorption is an incentive to the most frantic demonstrations and the students do not have much trouble to convince the mob that their nationality is in danger whenever they wish to indulge in the recreation of an outbreak. Herr Tisza's health is said to be failing and his physicians have recommended a respite from political duties, but there is hardly any one to take his place.

Herr Tisza's brother premier, Signor Crispi, will be compelled in case of forming another cabinet to give a larger representation to the Left. His late utterances concerning the pope and the temporal power of the holy see did not produce much comment here, for his actions had long previously discounted any language of his and he already had against him the clericals and all others who could be influenced by his words.

There is not much doubt that several nets appropriating church property, which have been long in contemplation, will be passed at no distant day, for other sources of revenue do not seem to be available and the people are revolting against the enormous taxation to which they have so long been subjected.

Severe Fighting at Bogomoio. ZANZIBAR, March 7.—There was severe fighting at Bogomoio Sunday. The Arabs, having occupied the shore at every point where a landing could be effected, attacked the Germans with great fury, and in spite of the combined fire of the men-of-war and mines, held their own until their chief, Bushiri, was wounded, when they retired, carrying off their wounded and leaving many dead on the field. The Germans behaved with great courage. Two cannons, which had been captured by the natives in a former fight, were recaptured. The Germans are now strongly entrenched, and will hold the place to prepare the way for Capt. Wisman's expedition.

Parnell Deluged With Congratulations. LONDON, March 7.—Mr. Parnell, finding it impossible to respond to the many letters he has received from both Europe and America congratulating him upon the collapse of the Times case against him, desires, through the press, to heartily thank the writers of the letters. The communications received by Mr. Parnell comprise letters from unexpected quarters, and from persons in the highest ranks of arts, literature and science. Many of the writers say that the revelations of the trial have converted them from Bal-fourism to Parnellism.

The King of Holland III. BERLIN, March 7.—The latest news from The Hague is that the death of the king of Holland is imminent. There are acute symptoms of blood poisoning. The king is experiencing terrible suffering, and what cessation from pain is obtained is due to the use of morphia.

It is stated that Prince Bismarck favors joining Alsace-Lorraine with Luxembourg on the death of the present king of Holland, and making the duke of Nassau king.

The stock market opened strong except for Manhattan, which was excessively weak, and declined four points on selling by insiders and others because of the declaration of a dividend instead of a cash dividend on the stock.

The underlying was quite free at times and it was quite evident from the manner in which the stock was offered that some of its holders were anxious to get out. The rest of the stocks were strong under the lead of the Grangers and Oregon stocks' prices advanced 1/4 to 3/4 per cent by midday. At this writing the market is dull.
